

I have been a licensed amateur radio operator, Extra Class, call sign K1SW, since 1958. During those 46 years I have been actively involved in many different facets of amateur radio and public service and I have become rather proficient from a technical viewpoint.

I find it very difficult to believe that you folks in the FCC - the protectors of the airwaves - would permit BPL to be implemented!

We all know that it will produce a significant level of RF pollution and that anything that does produce RF pollution should not be permitted!

Please reconsider!

Thank you,
